Nixon Pledges U. S.-Italian Consultation On Middle East

ROME (AP)—Vice President Nixon pledged today there will be "increasing consultation" between the U. S. and Italian governments on such critical mutual problems as the Middle East crisis.

Nixon spoke at a news conference just before taking off for Tunisia, last stop on his eight-nation African tour. He had flown up from Africa to see Pope Pius XII and Italian officials over the weekend.

Italy Close To Area

Some Italian circles have complained that the United States, in formulating its Middle East policy, does not take into sufficient account Italy's geographic proximity to the area and her economic interests there.

Nixon said "any failure to consult which may have seemed to exist in the past" was due to the "urgent nature" of the problems.

The vice president was almost mobbed by a huge throng which gathered at the entrance to the Rome railway station, where he went to launch the "open skies for peace" exhibit sponsored by the U. S. Information Agency.

Pope Pius told Nixon Sunday that he was comforted by the way President Eisenhower and the American people practice good will to settle international disputes. But the pontiff added there is still a great need for defense

MEET POPE — Vice President Nixon and Mrs. Nixon are received by Pope Pius XII in a special audience in Rome. The Pope and Nixon spent 25 minutes in private conversation, after which the pontiff praised President Eisenhower for his goodwill. ## Racket Probe Reaches Into Management

'Certain Companies' To Be Involved In Teamsters Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racket investigators said today their probe already is reaching into certain management practices as well as labor union operations.

Robert Kennedy, chief counsel of the committee searching for evidence of racketeering in labor and industry, said later hearings on alleged payment of more than $20,000 in Teamsters Union funds to Nathan W. Shefferman, a Chicago management consultant, "will lead into certain companies." He did not name the companies.

The first three weeks of the committee's hearings have dealt with an alleged plot by Teamsters officials to "muscle in" on vice profits in Portland, Ore. The hearings resume Tuesday with more testimony from Frank W. Brewster, West Coast Teamsters boss.

Bribery Charge Studied

Meantime, a federal grand jury was expected to finish today its consideration of bribery charges against James R. Hoffa, reputed to be the real power in the giant Teamsters Union. Whatever action the grand jury decides to take may not be known for several days.

Hoffa, a Teamster vice president and head of the union's Midwest organization, was arrested last week and charged with bribing a lawyer to join the staff of the racket committee and feed him information. Hoffa, free on $25,000 bond, has protested his innocence.

Dave Beck, Teamsters president, said in Tacoma, Wash., Sunday night "I intend to ask" Hoffa about the charges. Beck, interviewed on television said he had not talked with Hoffa since Hoffa's arrest last Wednesday night.

But, Beck said in reply to a question, "I am not going to turn my back on any man... until he has his day in court..."

The racket committee has given Beck until midday next Wednesday to decide whether he will comply voluntarily with its demand that he furnish his personal financial records for the 1949-1955 period.

There have been allegations that union funds were used to pay some of Beck's personal expenses. Asked Sunday night whether the union paid some $25,000 or $30,000 to remodel his home in Seattle, Beck replied: "They most certainly did not... It most definitely was out of my own pocket."

Beck told his interviewers he

Garcia Becomes New President Of Philippines

Magsaysay Killed In Plane Crash With 25 Others

MANILA (AP)—Vice President Carlos P. Garcia took over the reins of government today as the Philippine nation and the free world mourned the plane-crash death of President Ramon Magsaysay.

Garcia flew in from the SEATO conference in Australia several hours after Magsaysay's charred body was found in the wreckage of his plane on a Cebu Island mountainside.

The 60-year-old vice president took the oath of office as fourth president of the Philippine Republic before Chief Justice Ricardo Paras. He will serve until after next November's presidential elections, which now promise to be a wide-open fight.

A staunch supporter of Magsaysay's foreign policy, Garcia is expected to continue the late President's aim of strengthening American-Philippine friendship.

No Cabinet Changes

The new president told newsmen he planned no changes in the cabinet and would himself continue to fill the post of secretary of foreign affairs he had held under Magsaysay.

Magsaysay, 49-year-old champion of democracy and bitter foe of communism, perished early Sunday when his twin-engine plane crashed in dense jungle just after leaving Cebu for Manila.

Only one passenger, a Philippine newspaperman, survived the crash, which claimed the lives of 26 persons, including several top government officials and educators, several Philippine newsmen and members of Magsaysay's staff. The President was returning from giving two commencement speeches in Cebu.

A close guard was placed around the wreckage as officials made clear they had not ruled out the possibility of Communist sabotage. As defense secretary, Magsaysay had wrecked the Communist Huk rebel movement in the infant island republic.

Messages of condolence poured in from abroad to the Philippine government, Magsaysay's widow and their three children.

From aboard the cruiser Canberra, President Eisenhower in a statement said the people of the Philippines, the United States and "the entire free world have lost a valiant champion of freedom."

Magsaysay, he added, "will be greatly missed" in the fight against communism.

Mrs. Meir Fears Arab Moves May Erupt Into War

Foreign Minister Carries Israeli Appeal To Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's Foreign Minister Golda Meir took to Secretary of State Dulles today an urgent plea for U. S. action to curb Egyptian moves before war erupts in the Middle East again.

Mrs. Meir was ushered into Dulles' office at 10:00 a.m. The conference was the goal which she sought in a hurried flight from Jerusalem over the weekend.

Accompanying the envoy were three aides, bearing big envelopes and stuffed brief cases. The aides were Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban, Minister Reuven Shiloah and Gideon Rafael, a member of Israel's United Nations delegation.

Dulles arrived back in Washington Sunday from the Far East. He held immediate consultations with top aides on the Egypt-Israel crisis and set up today's meeting with Mrs. Meir.

Bid For U. S. Support

Mrs. Meir flew from Jerusalem in a dramatic bid for American support. She arrived Sunday at the same airport and almost at the same time as Dulles, back from the Far East. But they never met.

Dulles closeted himself with aides for a couple of hours, then authorized an announcement that he would see Mrs. Meir today. The time was not announced.

Mrs. Meir made her flight after Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered Egyptians to take back control over the Gaza Strip from United Nations forces which had replaced withdrawing Israeli troops. This, plus Egyptian talk about re-imposing the Suez Canal and Gulf of Aqaba blockades against Israel shipping, ran counter to Israeli assumptions on which the withdrawal was based.

"I am quite convinced," Mrs. Meir told reporters at the airport Sunday, "that with the Egyptians in the Gaza Strip we have returned to the same situation that we had before Oct. 29."

That was the date Israel attacked Egypt last fall, reporters noted. Did that mean, she was asked, that Israel would fight again if Egypt assumed what Israel regarded as too much authority in Gaza?

"I can't say at this time," she replied.

Busy Day For Dulles

Dulles booked a busy day. Besides seeing Mrs. Meir and catching up on Middle East developments during his 11-day absence in the Far East, he arranged afternoon appearances before the House Foreign Affairs and Senate Foreign Relations committees.

The committees assembled for a report from Dulles on two conferences — the one he attended at Canberra, Australia, as a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Council, and the one he leaves for Wednesday at Bermuda, where President Eisenhower will confer for four days with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Authoritative sources said Mrs. Meir came to impress on Dulles that Nasser's action, as she put it, "spells danger to the security of Israel" and endangers Middle East peace. She was reported ready to ask the United States to keep what Israel regards as two promises made by President Eisenhower:

1. In his Feb. 20 radio-television address, he promised to support Israel's right to exist.

Four New Waterford youths were hurt when the car in which they were riding left the road and overturned several times on Rt. 46, one-half mile west of New Waterford this morning at 12:05.

Patrolmen said the auto, driven at an excessive rate of speed by Larry Rupert, 18, was unable to stop as it overtook another car. Rupert's car went out of control, plunged into a ditch and rolled over.

Four Are Injured

Injured were: Rupert, lacerations of the scalp; Robert Guy, 15, bruised eye; James Heaton, 19, bruised leg; and Thomas Kerr, 16, lacerations of the right ear.

All the youths were treated by a physician in Columbiana. Rupert was cited for reckless operation, patrolmen said.

Youth Killed By Tree Limb On Visit Here

A vacationing 18-year-old Ohio State University student from Bucyrus was accidentally killed Saturday at 5:13 p.m. while helping to remove a limb from a tree at 336 Park Ave., police reported.

The youth, Ronald Radler, had driven up just five minutes before to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Radler of 314 Park Ave., when he saw three men attempting to remove the limb from the tree.

The men, James Cahill of 336 Park St., his son, Phil Cahill of RD 1, Salem, and Leon Knag, of RD 1, Salem, were holding individual ropes tied to the limb which was partly sawed through.

Radler grabbed a rope, and as the limb began to break, the others let go of their ropes, but Radler didn't, police said.

The whip action of the limb hurled Radler some 15 or 20 feet into the air. As he dropped to the ground, the limb broke loose, fell and crushed his skull. He was pronounced dead minutes later at City Hospital.

Coroner E. R. Sturgis ruled accidental death.

Born in Salem, Aug. 12, 1938, the youth was the son of John and Dorothy Bott Radler.

A freshman at Ohio State University, he was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Bucyrus. He resided there seven years going from Salem.

Besides his parents, he leaves a sister, Judy, of the home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Radler of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. William Bott of East Palestine.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Bucyrus, with burial in Oakwood Cemetery in Bucyrus. Friends may call at the Wise Funeral Home there this evening.

Beck Admits Borrowing Huge Sums From Teamsters Without Interest

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck said Sunday he had borrowed an estimated $300,000 to $400,000 from the Western Conference of Teamsters, without interest, while he headed the union's regional organization.

The general president of the international union said the loans long since have been repaid.

He said "I don't recall" when asked whether he had written notes to the 11-state union organization at the time of the loans.

Beck, waiting to appear before the special Senate committee investigating alleged rackets in labor unions, criticized sharply the conduct of the Senate hearing and the type of witnesses, and declared, "The teamsters have nothing to hide whatsoever."

He said if the hearing were conducted by judicial procedures there would be no complaint.

And he said he would decide at a Tuesday night conference in Seattle with former Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania, his new counsel, whether he would produce personal records, as demanded by the Senate committee. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) has set Wednesday noon as the deadline for Beck's reply—with a warning a subpoena will be issued if Beck refuses.

In describing the loans from the Western Conference, Beck said they involved funds which were in non-interest-bearing bank accounts. He said he borrowed the money for some of the real estate deals that he said had earned him hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The Teamster leader insisted the fortune he has built is "in no way related" to union business or union contacts.

He declared he had borrowed nothing from any union funds since becoming general president 4½ years ago.

In the period of the union loans between about 1947 and 1952, he said, he also was borrowing from banks and insurance companies. He said the executive board of the Western Conference "elected that no interest should be paid" on his union loans.

"If they change their mind," he added, "I will gladly pay."

Asked if he had had collateral for the loans, he replied: "I had plenty of collateral. I must have had to borrow from the banks."

But he did not say he had posted any for the union loans.

"I know there was an adequate guarantee to satisfy the board," he asserted. "I know they were sure the money would be repaid, and the best proof is that it was repaid."

Cleveland Gets Games Deadline

Must Raise 5 Million By May 1 For Pan-Am

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland officials, with six weeks to dig up nearly five million dollars more for staging the 1959 Pan American Games, still cling to the faint hope that the U.S. Congress will provide necessary funds.

If Cleveland can't arrange financing by May 1, a special congress of the Pan American Olympic Committee ruled Sunday in Caracas, Venezuela, the games will be shifted to Guatemala City. Rio de Janeiro was named second choice if Guatemala, which says it is prepared to take over the games at a moment's notice, should for some reason be unable.

The committee voted 11-2 to extend to May 1 Cleveland's deadline for arranging financing after hearing a plea from Committee Chairman Douglas F. Roby of Detroit.

Roby said he had been advised that if Cleveland does not receive the federal grant it will ask to be relieved of its obligation.

In Cleveland, Curtis Lee Smith, chairman of a planning committee for the games, said this city could not be host to the games without the federal appropriation which would bring to 13 million dollars the funds provided for the event. City, county and state would provide the other eight million, needed primarily for construction of facilities.

But Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, while remarking that "holding the games without federal money would be very difficult," said the extension "will also give us time to explore some resources we have not yet checked."

Smith said the additional time will give Congress "time to decide whether it wants the games in the United States."

He said a House Appropriations subcommittee indicated last week that it would recommend the grant for the games to the full committee.

But even if the House approves the appropriation, which the State Department has failed to support despite President Eisenhower's endorsement, there will be tough going in the Senate, where Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) has been outspoken in his opposition.

The State Department has called the appropriation "undesirable" under its budget structure.

Lausche, declaring for economy in government, has called the games which were last held in Mexico City in 1955, non-essential.

One delegate at Caracas, who declined to be named, said it would be "a slap in the face" to the Pan American competition if the United States is unable to hold the 1959 games.

Julio Illiesca, the Guatemalan delegate, voiced more optimism about Cleveland finances than was heard in Cleveland: "I sincerely hope Cleveland fails to find the money," he declared, "but I have no doubt they will. They have economic resources we don't have."

Boy Badly Injured By Diesel Locomotive

JESUS LOVED THEM

By PATRICK and GARRISON

BARTHOLOMEW

"And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles; Simon, (whom he also named Peter,) and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, . . ."

—Luke VI:13,14

Bartholomew was one of the Apostles whose life story has been lost to us during the centuries that have passed since he was first called by Jesus to be one of the Twelve.

A number of authorities believe he is the same person as Nathanael, mentioned in the Gospel of John, (1:45-51).

This opinion is based on the fact that Bartholomew is not a proper name, but merely served to identify him as the son of Tolmai.

Moreover, the name Bartholomew is never mentioned in the Gospel according to John. But in the latter Evangelist's list of Apostles, Nathanael is the name given in the place accorded to Bartholomew in the other three Gospels.

Scholars reason, therefore, that John may have referred to him by his given name, where the other three Gospel writers followed the Hebrew custom of calling him the son of Tolmai.

It was Philip who first told Nathanael of Jesus. And, John relates, Nathanael replied somewhat contemptuously, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

But upon first seeing Jesus, Nathanael followed him as readily as the other disciples, declaring, "Rabbi, thou art the Son of God."

According to traditions of the early Church, Bartholomew became a missionary to the East, preaching in Mesopotamia, Persia, Egypt, and Armenia.

Legends say he was martyred in Albanopolis, Armenia. The manner of his death is variously reported as having been crucifixion, beheading, and being flayed alive.

The immortal Michaelangelo apparently inclined to the latter story, for in his famous painting, "The Last Judgment," a flayed Bartholomew is shown holding his own skin in his hand.

Wrong About Love

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An Englishman will tell you what's wrong with American women.

A Frenchman will tell you what is wrong with the American male.

But only a Hungarian would feel certain he knew what was wrong with both—the American husband and his kitchen empress.

"There is no doubt of it," said Gyula Denes. "The trouble with the American male is that he is sex-conscious but love-shy. The trouble with the American woman is just the opposite — she is love-conscious but sex-shy.

"The trouble with both is that neither knows how to bridge this difference."

Denes, a former Budapest playwright, turned to the study of psychology after coming here in 1939. He attracted wide interest in medical and educational circles by writing and producing a series of 200 "psychodramas" in which trained actors graphically portrayed the symptoms of varying mental diseases.

Now more interested in the emotional maladjustments of ordinary people to the problems of work and marriage, Denes still lives to employ theatrical devices at the Denes Institute of Personality, which he founded.

Whatever practical psychology, for example, ever thought of relieving a wife's marital tensions by encouraging her to throw crockery at a dummy dressed to resemble her husband?

"Why not?" asked Denes, who is 57, grey-haired and has Danubian eyes. "A dish in the face doesn't hurt the dummy. It does make the wife feel better. And what does it cost to break a little crockery?"

Denes tries to get all his clients to talk out their troubles to the dummy, whom he calls "the image." Although most of them murmur at first, "this is silly," soon they launch a verbal tirade at the dummy, who becomes a symbol of the one they are mad at.

The woman, Mrs. Louise Hancock, 33, died in St. Elizabeth Hospital from stab wounds. Officers said they were holding the woman's husband, Willie, 34, for investigation of homicide. Mrs. Hancock was stabbed during an argument with her husband, police said.

Also held for investigation was Mrs. Beulah Vaughn, 24, who police said admitted the shotgun slaying of her husband, Richard Laymon Vaughn, also 24. Officers said Mrs. Vaughn admitted shooting her husband following an argument.

In the third slaying, Alva Harrison McCloud, a waitress at the Stockyard Cafe here, admitted shooting Henry Bird, operator of the cafe after the two quarreled, police said. She told police Bird had tried to choke her.

"The image" is dressed in either men's or women's clothing, depending on the client.

What does Denes tell his clients? "I explain that most men are eager for sex but afraid of love," said Denes. "As children they heard quarrels between their parents but saw little love, so they grew up without knowing how to give love. Also they feel that after marriage they are inferior to women before the law, which makes men pay alimony or go to jail in case of divorce, and lets the wife keep the children."

"Women are idealistic about love, but shy about sex because that is how they were brought up. They want to put their husband on a pedestal, to share every part of his life. But too often they find he looks upon them only as a companion in the boudoir and a flunkie in the kitchen. He shows them little gallantry, refuses to accept them as a real partner in love."

And the solution — if any? "Each must make an effort to live up to the other's ideals," said Denes. "Most of our problems come from our inability to communicate with one another. Husbands and wives desperately need to talk out their troubles together."

Ohio's Constitution Fails To Presume Man To Be Innocent Until He's Proven Guilty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You may be just as surprised as many Legislators over an apparent omission in the state Constitution.

Sen. Fred L. Hoffman (R-Hamilton) jolted several lawmakers, including attorneys, with a request to have Ohio's Constitution say that anyone accused of crime is presumed innocent until convicted.

He said Ohio law specifically presumes innocence but, surprisingly, the Constitution does not.

So the Cincinnati attorney proposed changing the Constitution to further safeguard a cherished right of Ohioans. Approval of his resolution by the Senate and House would place the proposal on election ballots next November for a final decision by voters.

Hoffman's proposal would make Article 1, Section 23, of the Constitution read:

"An accused in a criminal action or proceeding is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty of the crime charged, and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt is satisfactorily shown, he shall be acquitted."

Hoffman termed the addition desirable because the Constitution cannot be changed without approval of voters.

Laws, he explained, can be made and unmade in the Legislature without direct voter approval. And statutes are subject to interpretation by courts that occasionally hand down conflicting opinions. Even Supreme Court judges, who have final determination, often disagree.

Attorneys insist there is little likelihood of change in the law but concede it could happen some day. They said approval of Hoffman's proposal should insulate the presumption of innocence from legislative and judicial change so long as the Constitution stands.

Here is the statute to which they refer:

"A defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty of the crime charged, and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt is satisfactorily shown, he shall be acquitted. This presumption of innocence places upon the state the burden of proving him guilty beyond reasonable doubt.

"Reasonable doubt is defined as follows: 'It is not a mere possible doubt, because everything relating to human affairs or depending upon moral evidence is open to some possible or imaginary doubt. It is that state of the case which, after the entire comparison and consideration of all the evidence, leaves the minds of the jurors in that condition that they cannot say they feel an abiding conviction to a moral certainty of the truth of the charge.'

"In charging a jury the trial court shall state the meaning of presumption of innocence, and read said definition of reasonable doubt."

Man's Death Mystifies

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The death of Paul Benjamin Switzer, 59, son of a former Ohio congressman, has authorities here puzzled.

Switzer, son of the late Robert Switzer of Gallipolis, Ohio, a congressman from 1911 to 1919, was fatally stabbed Saturday.

Police said their investigation thus far is "at a dead end."

Robbery apparently was not the motive, police said. Switzer was found with several dollars in his pocket.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Net sales of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co. amounted to $61,557,595 and earnings totaled $1,376,683 last year, James H. Hoffman, president, said today in the annual report to stockholders.

Hoffman said earnings were equivalent to $2.23 a share of common stock, off from the $3 a share during the company's record sales year of 1955.

Hoffman announced a first quarter dividend of 30 cents a share on common stock, payable April 20 to stockholders of record April 10.

Mechanics End Strike At Eaton Mfg. Co.

CLEVELAND (AP)—More than 1,200 members of Local 21, Mechanics Educational Society of America have voted to return to work today at the Eaton Mfg. Co.'s axle division.

An agreement ending a strike which started Feb. 15 was ratified Sunday and a skeleton crew set to work immediately getting machinery ready for the return to production.

The strike resulted from a dispute over the company's two-week suspensions of two union committeemen for allegedly violating plant rules. The new agreement includes provisions for visitation rights of shop committeemen in the plant during working hours.

Eaton also agreed to drop two 1½ million dollar damage suits filed against the union as a result of the strike.

Mexican Girl To Be Returned To Home

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A 13-year-old girl who has lived here the past 2½ years will be returned to her grandparents in Nogales Sonora, Mexico.

Mercedes Costa is believed to be in the United States illegally, according to officials.

The Mexican Embassy in Washington advised the Gertrude Ramey Children's Home, where Mercedes has been staying, it would be best for all concerned to return the girl to her grandparents as soon as possible.

The grandparents are Argel and Juanita Costa.

Mercedes was brought here in September of 1955 by Mrs. Jeanine Teterick, who said she met the child in Nogales, Ariz., just across the border from Nogales, Mexico.

Mrs. Teterick said the grandmother gave permission for Mercedes to come here and said there would be no trouble obtaining the proper papers.

Mrs. Teterick was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor by failing to send Mercedes to school.

Mrs. Teterick said she thought it would be cruel to send the girl to school with children who would have more knowledge.

Mercedes was ordered placed in the children's home. Since then, the head of the home said, Mercedes has been doing good schoolwork.

Young Woman Found Murdered In Stream

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Acting Coroner Dr. Carl E. Tetrick has ruled that a pretty young woman, whose body was found stuffed in a sack and submerged in Big Darby Creek, was murdered.

But officials still searched for clues to the woman's identity.

The woman, said to be between 18 and 30 years old, was found Saturday wrapped in a bedspread and gagged with a small towel.

Dr. Tetrick said Sunday she died of strangulation, the result of a clothesline wrapped three times around her neck. He said she had been dead "about two days."

Dr. Tetrick said it will be several days before tests are completed to determine if the woman had been criminally assaulted. The sack was discovered about a mile south of nearby Darbydale by teenagers who were fly fishing.

Sheriff's Deputy H. W. Alt-hausen said a squad of deputies continued to search along the creek's banks. He said dozens of leads have been checked unsuccessfully with missing persons bureaus throughout the state. He said an FBI report on her fingerprints is expected from Washington today.

Unfinished Business

The thought must have occurred to many of President Eisenhower's countrymen, apropos of his recent difficulty with a nagging respiratory ailment, that they would hate to bear his responsibility if they did not feel up to par.

With it goes the thought that even more nagging than a cough and half an earache would be carping critics looking for evidence that the presidential function is being slighted whenever Mr. Eisenhower eases up on the grinding routine of his job.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why there is renewed interest in a point of view the President, himself, called to attention when he returned to his job early in 1956, after his heart attack — that Congress should decide how to bestow the presidential duties in the event that a chief executive's health fails.

This is an item of unfinished business in the federal government. Proposals have been made in Congress and outside of Congress. But there has been no general agreement on any of them.

There is unlikely to be any agreement in the absence of a crisis, because representatives and senators are reluctant to commit themselves on a touchy political problem.

It is touchy because the presidency of the United States is the focal point of an endless struggle for power among contending political factions. The office ordinarily changes hands in two ways — through election and through the death of the occupant.

The addition of a third way, covering the possibility of the occupant's inability to serve because of failing health, has been sidestepped. The Constitution mentions it without specifying who should make the decision.

Those who might have this power of decision would hold a power as great as that of the electorate. Yet, when they bestowed the presidential function on the vice president, they would be denied the philosophic acceptance of the inevitable which strengthens the position of a vice president after the death of a president.

That is the problem. It is tough. No Congress ever solved it. It may not be solved now, despite President Eisenhower's belief it should be solved.

But it cannot be shelved and forgotten—not as long as Mr. Eisenhower's candid attitude about his health keeps it in the forefront of popular attention.

Dramatic Entrance

The main suspense in the Senate committee's questioning of Teamster union officials never was the long-awaited appearance of Dave Beck, the union's president.

It had been taken for granted that President Beck sooner or later would run out of reasons for delaying his entrance.

But it had become a point of sharp curiosity about when and how James R. Hoffa, generally believed to be a more powerful Teamster official than Beck, himself, would make his bow to the public.

That curiosity has been relieved. Mr. Hoffa has made the most dramatic entrance possible — as the defendant against an FBI charge that he tried to bribe a lawyer working for the Senate committee which eventually would have him before it as a witness.

Clearly, this is not the way Mr. Hoffa would have chosen to come on the scene. He would have preferred to make a quiet entrance as one more witness in a long parade before the Senate committee, where he could have played the role of a run-of-mine union official.

Mr. Hoffa is no run-of-mine official. He does things in a very big way. He has hit the front pages like one of those long-haul rigs hitting a building. His testimony before the Senate committee may be an anti-climax.

A Divided Israel

No one ever has thought of Israel's prime minister David Ben-Gurion as a statesman with an easy assignment.

But reports that Israel is divided over his decision to order Israeli troops to leave Egyptian soil suggest might become a statesman with an impossible assignment.

If any considerable number of his people lose sight of their prime minister's problem in holding together a country dependent on good will, Prime Minister Ben-Gurion and his successor, whoever it may be, will become hostages to Israel's internal problems.

It has only one way to survive, surrounded by hostile neighbors and dependent on the outside world for sources of supply, markets for its products and capital to make production possible.

Its only chance is to maintain friendly relations with its sponsors and allies against its enemies.

If Prime Minister Ben-Gurion must convince any important group of his own countrymen that Israel has no choice but to do what he has ordered done, he has graver worries than Nasser and the Arabs.

The Arabs can be held accountable to the United Nations and its sovereign members. But dissension among the Jews in Israel is an internal matter that must be solved by their faith in the virtues of unity.

Constitution Abridged

By DAVID LAWRENCE

End Supposed To Justify The Means

The right of trial by jury is such an integral part of the Constitution of the United States that, when someone in the law-enforcement of the government begins to tamper with it, there is naturally grave concern.

Sometimes, because technicalities are overlooked by the general public, the opportunity is afforded officials to pull the wool over the eyes of the people.

Thus, within the last few weeks, a strange and unprecedented action has been taken by a federal judge in Tennessee, acting at the request of the Department of Justice.

It had the effect of denying a jury trial to 18 citizens at Clinton, Tenn., accused of acts of interference with the process of forced association in the schools.

Just after the publicity was first given to the episode in these columns, a press in a dispatch from Washington on March 6 reported:

"A Justice Department spokesman said 18 persons charged with interference with integration at a Clinton, Tenn., high school are entitled to trial by jury."

BUT THE FACT is that the Department of Justice, in the middle of the recent proceedings, had petitioned the court to change the name of the case so it would be carried on in the name of the "United States," though previously the parties to the suit were local school board officials and the defendants.

By substituting the words "United States," the right to trial by jury in contempt cases was automatically lost. So the announcement is meaningless.

Knowing the law, why did the Department of Justice ask to change the names of the parties in the first place and why did the federal judge on Feb. 25 approve that request?

Even more puzzling is another question: Why, in view of the March 6 press announcement, hasn't the Department of Justice since asked the federal judge to withdraw its petition to make the "United States" a party to the suit and thus make sure that the right of trial by jury for the defendants will be preserved?

It isn't just a matter of discretion or of the willingness of the Department of Justice to grant a jury trial if the "United States" is a party to the suit. It's a matter of legal right and not of the department's discretion.

IT IS BEING ALLEGED that the Department of Justice all along has not objected to jury trial in the Clinton cases but this never has been and is not now up to the Department of Justice to decide.

So the question goes back to the action of Federal Judge Robert Taylor in Knoxville, who approved the department's request that the "United States" be made a party to the suit. This, under existing law, automatically barred a jury trial.

The theory back of this law presumably is that a judge is the best person to decide whether contempt has been committed in his own courtroom.

But the decisions rendered in the past do not uphold the right of a judge to punish for contempt ordinary acts of lawlessness committed outside his courtroom.

Contempt cases, moreover, have been filed in the name of the "United States" only against persons who are themselves principals in a controversy, like the officers of a labor union who defy an injunction when the government itself has seized or taken over a plant or series of plants.

In this instance, the local school board is the complaining party, and the local authorities have the responsibility of enforcing law and order.

There would have been a reason for interposing the name of the "United States" as a party to the suit if the local school board had refused to obey the Supreme Court's order on forced association or a federal judge's injunction on the subject. But the school board has been complying from the start.

ALL THIS becomes pertinent because of the so-called "civil rights" legislation pending in Congress, under which it is sought to allow the "United States" to intervene in cases where Negroes may have been refused an opportunity to register and vote in elections.

If such legislation is passed, the "United States" will become a party to all the suits filed and there will be no opportunity for jury trial unless Congress repeals the present law.

Presumably the proponents of the "civil rights" legislation far local trials by jury because of public sentiment adverse to forced association of children in schools. So the device being employed is designed to avoid trial by jury.

It's a situation where the end is supposed to justify the means. But the "means" happens to be a denial of rights granted in the Constitution itself.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

The bloom is off the quiz shws. It has been demonstrated that some Americans have photographic memories and total recall and that advertising agencies can find them and exploit them on television.

Next demonstration, please, and let's find something new. Education is always interesting to talk about because no one knows what it is to be educated and this leaves infinite latitude for differences of opinions.

I am not surprised because Middle Easterners drive hard bargains with westerners who become involved in their timeless quarrels. Rudyard Kipling always said, "Never the twain shall meet."

The uproarious greeting cards now in vogue have added humor to occasions such as birthdays that formerly were so stickily sentimental they were dreaded.

According to advertisements in slick magazines, the two things American men are supposed to want most are engine-driven lawnmowers and outboard motors for boats.

I doubt if I could be happy in one of the modern houses that given an indoor-outdoor feeling. My idea of home is a place where you shut out the world in order to rest up for facing it tomorrow.

It is my belief the current tone of discussion about the federal budget reflects a sense of insecurity among millions of Americans who are starting to wonder, "Whither America?"

The death of Adm. Richard E. Byrd brought to mind the topical jokes that used to be based on the theme of "With Byrd at the South Pole." They never were very funny, but I wonder now why we ever thought they were.

It seems to me the Pacific Coast-ers testifying in Washington about didoes among racketeers out there are having trouble getting used to the idea that Congress has a right to be interested in their affairs.

Every spring I resolve to walk in the footsteps of Louis Bromfield he always planted willow switches in marshy ground to make willow groves for posterity, but I never get to it.

The little bit of larceny in all men has become epidemic in Virginia and Georgia this winter, where radar speed traps snap shut on the well filled purses of motorists going to and from Florida. A gouge of $20 is common, but $50 is not unheard of as local yokels cut in for their share of the Florida bonanza. The Carolinas also are trapping, according to returning travelers, but not so ruthlessly.

One of my pet ideas for improving the behavior of human beings is a bullet-proof glass cage for public exhibition of offenders, starting with sub-human specimens that abuse helpless children.

I predict that within 10 years demphasis of football in schools which got out of entertainment and into physical education will have gone so far that parents and students will prefer them.

I also predict that the peace everybody talks about can exist only in terms of living endlessly on the brink of violence, exactly as peace is being preserved now. Ask the next policeman you meet how the police department preserves law and order.

Federal Aid Unnecessary

By RAYMOND MOLEY

OKLAHOMA CITY — As I have traveled from state to state on this trip, it becomes more and more evident that the demand for school aid comes from the National Education Association and its local members, various state teachers' and superintendents' associations, from the A.D.A. and from labor union groups.

It is becoming more and more evident also that there is no real need for school building that cannot be supplied by the states and local communities. A few days ago figures I gathered in Louisiana show that no need for federal aid exists there, although in the President's plan that state is among the "poor" commonwealths of the nation.

Oklahoma is another of the allegedly poor, and the need there is just as fictional.

Under the administration's strange system of allocation, which we are to believe follows the principle "each according to need," the federal handout for the first year for Oklahoma would be $5,998,000, which the state would "match" with $3,496,000.

THIS WOULD PROVIDE for that year a federal gift of $11.38 per pupil.

Among the many state taxpayers' associations, the Oklahoma Public Expenditures Council is outstanding in the volume and accuracy of its research and in its effective way of combatting the spending mania that is sweeping the country.

The executive vice president of that association is Steve Stahl, whose standing among the professional workers in the field is shown by the fact that he is chairman of the National Conference of Taxpayer Association Executives. I find him to be highly regarded here in the state.

Recently Mr. Stahl presented the figures for his state before a committee of the House of Representatives in Washington.

He made the startling charge that apparently the figures upon which the U.S. Office of Education is depending and which, no doubt, the President accepted un-critically, must be gathered from school superintendents, who are clamoring for federal aid.

But the figure for Oklahoma presented by the U.S. Office of Education, Mr. Stahl indicated, was based upon incorrect "projections and estimates."

IT INDICATED that there were 10,000 pupils in the state "in excess of normal capacity of the accessible publicly owned school plants in use."

Mr. Stahl stated further that no one in the Oklahoma State Department of Education was willing to take responsibility for such an estimate. And the state superintendent in reply to Mr. Stahl's question about the basis of the estimate said he did not know.

The report of the U.S. Office of Education stated that Oklahoma needs 500 new classrooms, which may be true. But the state and local communities have the money for and are planning to build 1,200.

This answers the first of the President's charges, that there is a need which the states are unwilling or unable to supply.

His second charge is that the rate of construction has been lagging for years. This is refuted by the facts so far as Oklahoma is concerned.

SCHOOL REVENUES in Oklahoma have increased 57 per cent between 1951 and 1956. School bond issues in 1951 amounted to $6,400,000. In 1956 they were $27,200,000.

The voters of the state are approving bonds for school building at a very rapid rate. More than 3 million dollars, were voted in the first six weeks of this year. Also, teachers' salaries have increased substantially.

Oklahoma this year is sending 700 million dollars to the federal treasury in Washington.

This proves two things. First, that it is a state able to pay for its own schools, and second, that if federal taxes were lowered by less spending, it could spend much more on its own schools.

How The World Will End

By THOMAS R. HENRY

The sun is doomed by the accumulating ashes of its fires.

It now has reached about half the normal lifetime of its kind of star—about 6 billion years from its beginning.

This is the conclusion of Dr. Allan Sandage, astronomer of the Carnegie Institution.

Long before the sun's demise, however, the earth probably will have passed through the stage of a fiery furnace in which anything resembling life will be impossible. It now is generally recognized, Dr. Sandage says, that the heat of a star is due to a complex physical-chemical process by which hydrogen is transmuted into helium.

The star must compensate for the change in its internal chemical composition by increasing in radius and luminosity. It must brighten and expand to remain stable.

The change, however, takes place quite gradually until 12 per cent of the original hydrogen supply has been transformed into helium. Up to now the sun has converted only 6 per cent.

According to theory, Dr. Sandage says, when 12 per cent of the fuel has been exhausted the star no longer can compensate for its increased helium content by small changes but must increase drastically in radius.

At this point, it is near the end of its life because it swiftly increases in luminosity, consumes its remaining hydrogen at a tremendous rate and finally sinks into obscurity and death as its fuel supply scurries and as its fuel is depleted.

"The sun," said Dr. Sandage, "has lived about half its total life span. In another 6 billion years it will have reached the 12 per cent limit and then will begin to expand rapidly. At its maximum size the aging sun will appear in the sky as a dull red globe 15 degrees in diameter, instead of the present half of one degree.

"In this stage it will be burning fuel at a tremendous rate and soon will exhaust its hydrogen supply. Now begins the slow decline of brightness. Finally the sun must die and most likely will become a white dwarf.

"During this interval the temperature at the surface of the earth must go up. There will be a catastrophe to most forms of life when the sun reaches four times its present radius. At this point the earth's temperature will be about 70 centi-grade (about 150 fahrenheit). As the sun continues to expand, it will brighten and will drive the temperature first above the boiling point of water and then to the melting point of lead.

At the earth's greatest brightness the earth's temperature will reach more than 800 C. Life will have ceased, the oceans will have boiled away.

The end would be right now, Dr. Sandage stresses, had the mass of the original sun been 10 per cent greater.

So They Say

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Another Loss Of Face

In these days of baseball spring training, Olympic contestant romances, basketball and hockey finals, etc., Sandra Sibley, of Olney England, and Mary Collingwood of Liberal, Kan., have been pretty well overlooked, but their feats, unique and extraordinary, rate attention.

Sandra, an 18-year-old girl, nosed out Mary Collingwood, a 24-year-old housewife in the annual International Pancake Flipping Derby the other day. This can do America no good.

Sandra flipped her griddle cakes three times in a 45-yard dash in one minute eight seconds, Mary breathing down her back eight seconds behind, so to speak. American had won four of the last five Intercontinental Flapjack Flipping Derbies. The 1957 defeat raises these questions:

- 1—Are we falling behind in the world of pancake tossing on the gallop?
- 2—Is Washington neglecting the nation's pancake-turning defenses?
- 3—Is it not urgent that the government's policy on griddle-cake handling be revised?

THE HAND THAT FLIPS the pancake, as some philosopher once said, rules the world. American housewives have almost always led in flipping in full flight.

There has never been a time when we would not have bet on them to show championship quality with griddle-cakes at a trot, canter or even over the hurdles.

WE HAVE SEEN American mothers of big families handle griddle-cakes with dazzling speed and precision in sprints and over a distance, with a dozen hungry kids crying, "faster!" Our Aunt Millie, a southpaw pancake flipper, could start from an iron stove in big basement kitchen, and get six dozen cakes over the plate with speed and precision, without loss of control. She flipped without a windup and her best one was a "knuckler" which seemed to be going to Uncle Phineas but wound up on the plate of Little Egbert, aged six.

AUNT MILLIE was the baseball rather than track event type, but she could do 400 yards in one minute flat with a sunnyside-up egg, flipping it as she ran, without busting a yolk.

In her younger days she beat all comers in an event labeled "Carrying on the head an eight-ounce jelly in a round-bottom saucer over a four-foot fence." And they say she once won a championship covering a quarter mile over a wet track carrying four quarts of clam chowder in two paper bags, one held in each hand as she ran.

SANDRA SIBLEY, the new British pancake flipping champ, may well take warning. Aunt Millie is only 73 years old now and still going strong. America will not take this pancake flipping defeat lying down. (There is a report that the American contestant's pancake flipper was tampered with and that somebody put pig-iron in the pancake batter, slowing her down.)

Oh, Beck is back . . .
But will Beck buck
The quiz by Mac?

A RESEARCH LABORATORY has built a talking bomb, which delivers a 5-minute message on the way down. . . . But who wants to be on speaking terms with a bomb?

The board of directors of a bank in Haiti walked out in a strike by bank employees. . . . A bank director in a picket line must be quite a novelty. . . . (Do you suppose they can picket, in fact, if a quorum isn't present?)

In these days of stock split-ups by the dozen almost daily, it is interesting to see one corporation, the A.T. & T., stoutly opposing them as routine fun and pointing out that they are often of no benefit to stockholders. . . . "They add nothing to the basic value of the shares. They do not increase company assets or the amount of earnings available for dividends," says the company. "It is common sense that simply changing one share paying nine dollars a year for four shares paying two dollars and a quarter does not increase the value of your investment."

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO — There was nothing penny ante about the fascination and dedication of the boys from Portland to pinball games and the almighty one-armed bandits — the slot machines.

If you look you'll note in the transcript of the Senate racket busting committee hearings showing that the lads were merely planning to use Portland as the base for operations that would tie in with others across country.

Where once the horizons were westward, these gents looked east and drooled over a field which gave a jingling yield of more than 3 billion dollars a year.

One authority for some of these gay statistics is right here in Chicago.

True, this figure is based on an eight-year-old study of national gambling. But that merely means that the "take" has grown tremendously — and the Portland adventurers were planning to move into a lush field than anyone thought existed.

MUCH OF THIS DATA is the result of research by the Chicago Crime Commission and its director, Virgil Peterson.

A report based in part on his digging said recently that, "estimates in recent years of the amounts played in the slot machine racket ranged from 2 to 3 billion dollars. . . . Furthermore, says the report:

"Personal expenditures on non vending coin machines (including gambling machines, slot machines, pinballs, etc.) as reported to tax authorities show an increase from 8 million dollars in 1929 to 154 million in 1948."

This means that there is a gigantic unlicensed shadowland machine gambling area. Even in 1949, it was estimated by experts that the "take" was well over 2 billion dollars a year.

It's higher now, of course. Only the "legitimate" machines in states like Nevada are reported for tax purposes, but hundreds of thousands of "unreported" machines operate day in and day out across the country.

The boys from Portland were also mighty courageous. They tried to move in on another well-protected field — off-track gambling. At one point, the Senate transcript shows, the men involved wanted to use the teamster newspaper there to get a ticker service which would give them race results for a "horse book."

THE UNION SHEET was and is entitled to the same wire service rights as a commercial paper. When the regular editor of the Teamster's paper appeared to balk, they had him removed and sneered at him as a "do-gooder."

They had another gimmick — punch boards. This was to bring them $100,000 a year in Portland alone. Across country, it runs into millions and the boys had their eyes on some of this take, too.

So it comes as no surprise to the experts here or to the Senate committee itself, that public officials were involved and that charges of bribing highly placed elected men are flying as swiftly as a handful of coins in the maw of a one-armed bandit.

The same report states: "The best ways of paying graft to law enforcement officers were:

1 - payment of a periodic flat sum, 2 - cutting in public officers for a percentage of the operation, 3 - heavy campaign contributions both before and after elections.

"A crime study in a western state estimates that 400 million dollars is spent annually. . . for bribery and the corruption of public officers."

THESE FIGURES sound fantastic. But they are based partly on the Chicago Crime Committee's findings and can be found in a report issued by the Citizen's Committee of Massachusetts, Inc.

The whole subject of gambling will have to be someone else's project. The point here is that the Portland exposure shows that some unions were used to try to muscle in on this vast field.

Even this wouldn't trouble many a labor leader whose feeling is that men are going to gamble and it's up to the citizenry or the police to decide what to do about it — or whether to do anything.

What disturbs the majority of the labor men you talk to as you sample sentiment "on the road" is the fact that the public will begin distrusting all of labor's political efforts.

This could cost labor much of its political influence. Certainly labor politics will be hard hit in the northwest despite the fact that neither Sen. Wayne Morse, nor Sen. Dick Neuberger knew anything of these shenanigans.

That Portland story is just beginning.

Fund Drive For Portrait Of Jim Hoffa Continues

ST. LOUIS — A fund drive for a life-size portrait of James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union official arrested on charges of tampering with a Senate committee, will be continued "as a memorial to Jimmy."

That was announced Friday night by Nicholas M. Blassie, secretary-treasurer of the portrait committee headed by St. Louis labor leaders.

"I was taught you are innocent until proven guilty," said Blassie. He said the portrait drive was a "spontaneous thing" that followed the raising of $268,625 for construction of a "Jimmy Hoffa children's home" in Israel.

Nicholas A. Volpe, a Hollywood artist, was engaged by the committee to do an oil painting of Hoffa to hang in the children's home. A total of $785 had been raised when Hoffa was arrested. Blassie sent letters to hundreds of labor and industrial leaders last week, asking "financial help from our friends to defray costs of this worthwhile project."

Hurricane Rips Coast Of Texas

At Least One Person Drowns, Others Hurt

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains and winds of hurricane force lashed the Texas Gulf Coast Sunday. At least one person drowned when heavy rains flooded streets and highways and a tornado injured several persons and caused scattered damage in the Galveston area.

More than 10 inches of rain fell at Texas City, where every street was flooded for a time by knee-deep water. Several families left homes in low-flying sections.

Winds up to 80 miles per hour knocked down power poles, unroofed homes and cut off telephone and electric service at several towns in Galveston County.

The rains, however, began tapering off along the coast early today.

Twisters also were reported yesterday at Houston and near San Angelo. Lighter rains fell over most of east Texas and hail fell at San Antonio and Bryan.

Widespread precipitation was forecast for much of the remainder of the nation today. Showers and thunderstorms were to sprinkle an area from southeast Texas to the east coast and northward into the Ohio Valley.

Portions of New England with fair weather and the Florida Peninsula with partly cloudy skies were to provide the only contrast to a wet weather picture east of the Mississippi River.

Snow was in the works for the northern plains and sections of the northern Great Lakes.

Heavy snow warnings—with expected accumulations of 4 to 8 inches—were issued for northeastern Nebraska, northwestern Iowa, southeastern South Dakota and central and southern Minnesota.

Rain in the southwest and snow flurries in the northern Rocky Mountains also were forecast today.

Chillier weather was expected from the Great Lakes to northern Texas but little significant temperature change was due in other parts of the country.

New Missile Will Hunt Low Flying Planes

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Army Ordnance has plugged a hole in America's defenses with a new guided missile it calls the Hawk.

Those who know say it is capable of destroying anything that flies, no matter how low.

Yank airmen long have been saying that America's air defense was a sucker for tree-top-level attack. They base this belief on the fact that antiaircraft weapons in this country are designed primarily for high-altitude work.

What if the Russians hurled low-flying aircraft or missiles at American cities and industrial areas from submarines off San Francisco or New York?

Army Ordnance says the Hawk, details on which are yet to be released, is designed to stop such an attack.

This new missile, when it is released, will carry an atomic warhead, capable not only of shooting down the target it goes after, but destroying also whatever weapon the enemy missile or aircraft will have on board.

PRODUCTION RESUMES
CLEVELAND (AP)—Two of the four open hearth furnaces shut down at Republic Steel Corp. because of shortage of liquid oxygen were being returned to production today. A company spokesman said Sunday the two furnaces, shut down last week, were re-lit after Republic managed to get "some oxygen." The normal supply of liquid oxygen used in cleaning steel slabs, was cut off because of a strike at four plants of the Linde Air Products Co.

BE SMART: ASK QUESTIONS

According to a public survey reported in the news recently, the average man takes more pains in selecting a new suit than he does in buying a new house.

And yet he does not expect to wear the suit more than two or three years at the most; whereas he expects to live in the house about 10 years.

Actually, it's my experience that people are somewhat more cautious about buying a house than this survey might indicate. However, it is easy to forget to find out the answers to such important questions as:

When was the house built? Who built it? Is he a reliable builder? What is the square footage of the usable space and how does this compare with that of your present house? How big is the lot? How much are the taxes? How old is the furnace?

If you have a family, don't assume there are schools within a reasonable distance. Find out where they are. And what about a church of your denomination? How close are the bus lines? What about traffic on the street—is it heavy, or, on the other hand, is the street itself in poor condition?

Are there adequate shopping facilities within easy reach? Exactly what does the price of the house include, and are there fixtures now in the house which are not to be included in the deal?

As a real estate broker, I would certainly not consider any of these questions to be unreasonable, and their answers could be very important to you, the prospective buyer.

Brig. Gen. Benito Ebuon, commanding general of the Philippine air force, Education Secretary Gregorio Hernandez Jr., Rep. Pedro Lopez of Cebu and former Sen. Tomas Cabili.

Discovery of Magsaysay's body climaxed a nationwide search set in motion nearly 35 hours earlier when the President's plane winged out of Cebu on a pre-dawn 1½-hour flight to Manila.

Officials agreed Magsaysay's death could throw the young nation into political turmoil.

Magsaysay's removal as candidate for re-election will signal a wide open race for his Nationalist party nomination.

It could also mean that the Liberal party, still floundering from crushing defeats in the last two elections, might revise its stand and put up a strong candidate this year. Earlier the Liberals had virtually conceded the President would be swept back into office.

U. N. Forces Deploy Along Gaza Border

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—U. N. forces appeared today to be withdrawing from positions they had taken up throughout the Gaza Strip and deploying along the Gaza-Israeli border.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the U. N. Emergency Force, said his troops "are already partly deployed along the demarcation line." However, he indicated UNEF had not "with-drawn completely from towns in the strip."

Gaza dispatches said the U. N. forces had pulled out of road checkpoints in the southern part of the strip but that Egyptian troops had not yet moved in.

U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Constantin Stavropoulos, a U. N. legal expert, shuttled back and forth between Gaza and Cairo. Bunche declined to say definitely that the Egyptians had taken over Gaza's administration "because that implies many things."

Bunche and Burns conferred Sunday night with Brig. Salah Gohar, director of the Egyptian Palestine Department. The two U. N. officials left by plane today to inspect UNEF positions at Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh under strong U. N. and U. S. pressure, on the assumption that the U. N. would take over both civilian and military responsibility in the two areas.

Last Thursday Egyptian officials, including a governor general, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Hassan Abdel Latif, moved in only a week after the Israelis withdrew.

Doctor Pleads Not Guilty To Murder

LONDON (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams, accused of killing three patients out of greed, today pleaded innocence as he went on trial for murder.

The 58-year-old society doctor is charged specifically with murdering Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, 61, an elderly eccentric widow. The prosecution claimed that a preliminary court hearing she was only one of his victims.

The doctor was accused of turning the 81-year-old widow into a drug addict while slowly poisoning her in 1950.

The cause of her death was officially recorded as a stroke. The body was cremated in accordance with her will and the ashes were scattered over the English Channel.

Mrs. Morrell left an estate of more than 60,000 pounds (168,000 dollars). Dr. Adams inherited a chest of Georgian antique silver and was later given her Rolls Royce by the dead woman's son of appreciation for the care he had given his mother.

Rumors a year ago led to a Scotland Yard inquiry into the death of some of the elderly people.

Dr. Adams was arrested late last year on 13 offenses involving forgery, larceny and violations of the cremation act.

had borrowed $300,000 to $400,000, interest free, in union funds some years ago, but that "every cent... has been repaid."

The name of Shefferman, the Chicago management consultant, came up in the hearings Friday when Brewster was on the witness stand. Checks and other bank documents were introduced indicating payments of more than $20,000 in Teamsters funds to Shefferman.

Shefferman was described as an employer adviser on labor relations and was said to be a close friend of Beck. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said Shefferman "quite probably" will be called as a witness.

Brewster testified the checks were signed by him and Beck, but he didn't know for what purpose they were issued. He said it might have been to pay Shefferman for some speeches at union meetings.

But Kennedy said the committee knows Shefferman was never paid for any work for the Teamsters.

Most of the $20,000 was represented by the checks passed from accounts of the Teamsters' Western Conference to the "public relations division" of the Los Angeles Teamsters Council. This "division," it was said, was set up by Beck.

Asked about this Sunday night, Beck said:

Dog's Death Stirs Battle In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The death of a small mongrel dog, key figure in a gun fight that resulted in the firing of five dogcatchers, continued today to stir up a controversy.

The dog, Blackie, was found floating in a bayou Saturday near where its young master and another boy holed up with a rifle and held off police and dog catchers for an hour last Wednesday.

The two 14-year-old boys, Charles Layman and Robert Garcia, said the shooting occurred after a dog catcher tried to shoot Blackie. Dogcatcher Otis O'Callahan said he fired to scare the dog after it bit him. No one was hurt in the exchange.

City Commissioner Tom June-ma revealed Sunday that five temporary dog catchers have been fired and a drive to rid the city of strays has been called off.

Blackie had been put in the pound for a 14 day observation period. The boys were suspended from school. Irate citizens had rallied to their side after the story was published.

Mrs. Ruby Layman, mother of Charles, said when she asked to see Blackie Friday, she was offered any other animal in the pound.

She said Charles was hysterical after finding Blackie's body. She said the dog's head had been mutilated by what appeared to be a "shotgun blast."

Earlier all but the head dog catcher was dismissed as a result of the incident.

There was a mystery as to how Blackie met death.

"In this case it's highly possible," June-ma said, that the dog was killed in anger. But he added, "I don't think that is the case."

Mayor George Clough, however, thought otherwise. "I don't see why they killed that little fellow's dog," he said. "I'm going to see that it doesn't happen again."

A meeting was to be held today between the boys' parents and school officials to discuss their suspension.

Veterans Guide

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (By Veterans Administration)

Q — I understand that payments under the Survivor Benefits Act depend on the base pay of the rank held by the veteran. My husband died as a result of wounds incurred in World War I service. His rank was captain in the Army. Will the amount to which I am entitled be based on the military pay he received many years ago, or on the pay received today by an army captain?

A — Survivor Benefits Act payments are based on the current pay scale of the military, and not on the amount actually received by the veteran while he was in service. Your payments, then, would be based on what a captain receives today; not on what he received in World War I.

Q — My wife and I both signed a note when we received our GI home loan. We now want to sell our house and let the buyer take over the loan. I plan to apply to VA for release of liability to the Government. If this release is granted, will it also include my wife?

A — Yes. If you are released of liability, your wife, too, will be released.

Q — Is it possible to go to a school below the college level, under the War Orphans Education program?

A — Yes, provided you already have completed or quit your regular high school, and the below-college course will equip you for a specific vocational goal.

Q — I am going to school under the Korean GI Bill, and I expect that my entitlement will run out before I finish my course. The school does not operate on a quarter or semester basis. Is it possible for my entitlement to be extended so that I can complete the course?

A — If you have completed the major part of your course, your entitlement may be extended to the end of the course or for nine weeks — whichever is the shorter period.

Two members of the executive committee of the Health League are members of the Columbiana Business & Professional Women's Club. They are Mrs. Walter Miller of Columbiana and Mrs. Arthur Spatholt of Leetonia.

Dr. Rose Wong, a Chinese escapee, who now resides in Youngstown, will be the speaker. She will tell of her experiences in China.

Reports from the Health League treasurer, Charles McKenzie of Lisbon, and the representative director, Donald Elliott of Rogers, will be heard. Activities of the League for the past year and plans for the future will be reviewed by Lillian R. Schroeder, executive director.

Szkola Case Decision Not Likely Until June Appellate court action is not likely until May or June on an appeal made by the city on a decision handed down by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp affirming Miss Eleanor Szkola's claim to civil service protection as a city board of health clerk.

Judge Sharp, and not Judge Louis Tobin, on Friday denied a motion filed by City Solicitor James Primm for a "stay of execution" of Judge Sharp's ruling that Miss Szkola is entitled to the job from which she was dismissed June 19, 1956, by Health Commissioner R. T. Holzbach. A story in Saturday's News mentioned Judge Tobin. It should have said Judge Sharp.

FINED BY MAYOR Robert Foot, 26, of 292½ S. Broadway was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated by Mayor Dean Cranmer after police arrested him on E. State St. at 11:45 p.m. Saturday.

Police confiscated an unloaded .22 caliber automatic pistol which they found on his person.

Candidate For Council

Stands Against Himself

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A candidate for the City Council, who says he needs the job "like I need a hole in the head," told voters: "Don't vote for me April 2."

Dr. David H. Smith, a physician, said in a statement Sunday that if citizens don't care about contaminated water, sewage dumped near city wells, too many gnats and flies going unsprayed, and unsanitary food establishments, they shouldn't mark their ballots in his behalf.

"If I am not elected, I'll go fishing," he declared.

Fairfield-Waterford School Board Proposes Change

Suggests Combining District Upper Grades at Fairfield

COLUMBIANA — Expressions of sentiment at a meeting Friday evening of the Parent-Teacher Association at Fairfield School appeared to be weighted against a proposal of the Fairfield-Waterford Board of Education that high school students of the district be combined at Fairfield School and students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades at New Waterford school.

Sentiment on the high school proposal appeared to be not so much in disfavor as the over-all picture, although there were expressions in favor of the entire program. Details of the plan issued by the Fairfield-Waterford board list a total of 102 Fairfield pupils in grades six, seven and eight who would be transported to New Waterford, and 120 New Waterford High School students who would be transported to Fairfield.

While this would increase transportation costs, they are paid by the state and perhaps three fewer high school teachers would be required, the board says. The board lists among advantages of the plan better class and study schedules, better teaching assignments, and an enriched junior high program.

Max Gard, Columbiana County historian, gave a talk on "The Sandy & Beaver Canal." Officers elected were: Arthur Whan, president; Reuben Russell, vice president; Mrs. Kimsey Bell, recording secretary; Mrs. Dean Forney, corresponding secretary; Stanley Yeager, treasurer; Emerson Snyder, sergeant-at-arms; Miss Ruth Deringer, historian; Mrs. Wayne McCammon, study group chairman. About 125 were in attendance. Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Besides the annual election of officers to assume their duties on July 1, the Rotary Club, at its meeting at Valley Golf at 6:30 p.m. today, will devote the evening to the preparation for mailing of 5,000 envelopes of Easter seals.

Proceeds of the annual sale will all go to the club's crippled child fund, as all the funds remain in this community. None of the proceeds are used to pay mailing or other expenses, which are all provided for out of the club treasury. Harry Eberhardt is chairman for the seal sale, which amounted last year to about $2,000. Surrounding areas benefit from the funds.

EDWIN ROHRER, program chairman for the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Heck's restaurant at 6:30 p.m. today, will present as the speaker Seth Myers of Sharon, whose program on conservation is carried by WPIC, Sharon. Mr. Myers is a past president of the Outdoor Writers of America.

Fairfield, New Waterford, Leetonia and East Palestine school bands have been invited to hear the Ohio State University Symphony Band in Columbiana High School gymnasium at 9:30 a.m. next Friday. Students from the fourth through the 12th grades will attend, and the public is invited.

Charles Newell, 63, printer who was a native of Columbiana, was found dead in his bed March 6 in Van Wert, where he was employed on the Times-Bulletin. A son of H. O. Newell, who published the Columbiana Ledger, he learned his trade here and had been employed on many papers. He went to Van Wert from Marysville nearly two years ago. He is survived by three children and five grandchildren in Akron and a sister, Mrs. John Duncan in Newark.

The Searchlight Class will serve a ham supper in the dining room of the Methodist church from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Friday. The Loyol Men and Women's Class will meet in the Christian Church at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Hostesses will be Mrs. Margaret Sayers and Mrs. Anna Lou Nolsheim. F. R. Corey of the Corey pony farm at the northwest edge of town has been named to four committees of the Columbiana county fair board, the finance, legislative, special attractions and music committees.

Religious emphasis night will be observed by the Sorosis Club at its March meeting in the public library at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Nominations for the election of officers will be made at the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Clipper Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in the lodge quarters at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

St. Lawrence Seaway Delay Seen Possible

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A possibility of delay in the St. Lawrence Seaway and power projects looms because of difficulty in engaging contractors for a major phase.

Involved is the deepening of a channel south of Cornwall Island to the standard seaway depth of 27 feet.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers had estimated the cost at 18 million dollars but the lowest total bid received is 32 million.

Stanley B. Hunt, chief of engineering in the U.S. Army Engineers' district office here, said Sunday night a decision on the bids had to be made in a week or so.

The engineer confirmed reports that there was a possibility of a delay in both the seaway and power projects.
